That He Could Not Play Engagement Here with Fitch Comedy.

Paul Gilmore, the brilliant young ector who is immensely popular among local theatre-goers and who has many friends here, was here for a short time Thursday. He was on the way with his theatrical company from Fairmont to Parkersburg.

Mr. Gilmore is starring this season in the late Clyde Fitch comedy, "The Bachelor," and is meeting with his usual success everywhere on the oad. Owing to conflicting engagenents, it was impossible for Mr. Glimore to play at the Grand this season although he tried his best to buy a booking from another company. He regretted the fact very much as he always likes to play in Clarksburg and it is needless to say that his many friends here also regret the fact as they always give him a cordial reception whenever he appears upon the local stage.

The Fairmont Times says Mr. Cilnore"who never falls to make good with Fairmont theatre-goers delight ed a large house" Wednesday nigu at the Grand there. In a humorous way he is at his best in this play and from the beginning to the end of there is fun in plenty for all. He is supported by a good company.
